

Need help navigating IP networks?

The deployment of building control systems is changing. More systems are being installed on IP networks. Navigating this technology can present design and implementation challenges for building service consultants and engineers.

Abtec specialises in designing and providing networks for building control systems. We are now included in the CIBSE directory of registered CPD providers. Our training will help you:

- Specify the right network for your project
- Appreciate the benefits of secure, resilient networks
- Provide secure remote access to building controls systems

The training can be held at your premises, to find out more contact Abtec on 01858 438 500, or email enquiry@abtecnet.com.
